CHILDREN RELEASED FROM QUARANTINE TO GO TO SCHOOL

The birth of boy babies to Mr. and Mrs. Mickelson, January 7 and to Mr. and Mrs. Hyrum Wilson Todd, January 14, were reported today at the office of the city health department.

The office of Inspector George Shorten was crowded this morning with children recently released from quarantine for scarlet fever. They were called in for an investigation before being given permits to attend school, the inspector desiring to take no chances on a spreading of this disease by their too early mingling with other children.

YOUNG WOMEN BEFORE THE MUNICIPAL JUDGE

Mike Lynch, a "moocher" of vicious tendencies, was sentenced this morning by Municipal Judge G. S. Barker, to serve twenty-five days in the city jail. He was arrested by Patrolman Jerry Kellher, on lower Twenty-fifth street, Saturday night, after he had acted in a threatening manner toward several persons who had attempted to ignore his advances.

Helen Sutton, aged 28 years, was found guilty of vagrancy and sentenced to serve fifty days in jail or to pay a $50 fine. She was arrested yesterday morning at 2210 1-2 Washington avenue, with her sister, Norma Sutton, aged 21 years, by Sergeant C. P. Fitzgerald and Detective Robert Chambers. The younger woman, who appeared to be only a girl, was also convicted of vagrancy but in her case, the judge ordered a suspended sentence.

Farley Greenwell, arrested Saturday night on a charge of drunkenness, forfeited $5 bail. A ten-day jail sentence was meted out to Arthur Lloyd, who

FOREIGNERS BECOME CITIZENS OF THE UNITED STATES

District Judge Arthur E. Pratt today conferred the honor of American citizenship upon Andrew Young Richmond, formerly of Canada, and William Gette, from France, after they passed, with a high average of efficiency, the searching examination of Paul Armstrong, the federal government's special examiner.

Ate Boerema, of The Netherlands, also was an applicant, but decision in his case was continued until March to give him an opportunity to learn more about the principles of American government.

Mr. Armstrong is an expert on naturalization laws. After the session he was asked whether American citizens, native born, who enlist in a foreign army or navy, taking the oath of allegiance to the foreign ruler, forfeit thereby their rights as American citizens.

"That's an open legal question," he replied. "It is one, too, which congress will probably have to settle by new legislation at no distant day, because so many Americans are serving in the European war. Some courts have decided that such foreign enlistment and oath of renunciation and allegiance constitutes a forfeiture of American citizenship, while other courts have held the opposite opinion. 'Until now, and even now, our government, like other governments, has been lenient and liberal toward adventurers of that kind, for so many foreigners have enlisted in the same way in the wars of our own country. From now on, however, complicated questions concerning citizenship may arise in many cases, on account of the enlistments of Americans in Europe and it may become necessary for congress to deal with the problem."

Mr. Armstrong said he was aware of the complications which might arise if such expatriated Americans were to return to the United States and be elected to office. The constitution, he said, provides that certain persons are American citizens, and no provision is made for expatriation in the case of native-born Americans. Naturalized citizens who leave America and reside abroad two years without stating their intentions according to law are regarded as having forfeited their American citizenship.

On enlisting in the British or German military or naval service, the applicant is compelled to renounce all allegiance to any foreign country, especially renouncing allegiance to the country of his birth. Returning to America, after committing this act of expatriation, and becoming involved in difficulties, such person legally could claim the rights and immunities of a British subject, for instance.

Mr. Armstrong said that this problem opens up serious legal difficulties which could be solved only by congress, or, perhaps, by the supreme court.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICES OVER MISS HELEN L. MOYES

The funeral of Miss Helen Moyes was held yesterday afternoon in the Third ward chapel, with Bishop Myron B. Richardson presiding. Due to the momentarily expected arrival of Miss Norine Moyes, sister of the deceased who was enroute home from Clarksville, West Va., where she had been acting as a missionary for the Mormon church, the service was prolonged until after 5 o'clock. The sister, who was unaware of the reason why she had been summoned from the mission field, learned it through the medium of a newspaper about 1 p. m., yesterday and overcame by grief, she suffered a temporary collapse in the arms of her mother when she arrived at the chapel just before the funeral service was concluded. She was taken home and later in the evening, recovered.

Hundreds of friends and relatives of Miss Helen visited the residence on Twenty-first street, Saturday and yesterday, where she lay as though asleep in the casket that formed her last couch of rest, and all sorrowed at her all too early parting from the ones she had loved and blessed with her companionship through twenty-one short years of life. Their appreciation of this love was shown in the form of floral tributes of many designs, banded around her casket in the Moyes parlor and later at the church.

The ward chapel proved too small to accommodate all who desired to attend the funeral service, which was unusually impressive. Eulogies on the life of the deceased and doctrinal sermons of the resurrection were delivered by Elders Samuel G. Dye and Aaron Tracy. President John V. Bluth and Mrs. Georgina Marriott. The talks were interspersed with the following musical program: Violin offertory, Marcellus Smith; solos, "Calvary" and "Give to the World the Best you Have," Stella Wright Olson; "O Love Divine" and "Flee as a Bird," Walter L. Stephens, and violin postlude, Marcellus Smith. The piano accompaniments were played by Ernest E. Oborn.

The pallbearers were R. H. Argubright, Joseph McLaughlin, John Ira Davis, T. Ray Tracy, W. G. Wilson and Walter Anderson. Interment was in the city cemetery, the grave being dedicated by Bishop Richardson.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL HAS FIRST CASE OF SMALLPOX

Irving Wilson, a transient, today was found suffering of a well-developed case of smallpox at the Ogden rooming house, on lower Twenty-fifth street. His ailment was discovered when he applied to a physician for treatment. City Sanitary Inspector George Shorten immediately sent him in charge of a deputy to the county isolation hospital. Wilson is the first patient at the fine new institution.

County Commissioner Martin P. Brown sent out groceries and necessary comforts for the man as soon as the case was reported this morning and Dr. W. R. Emmett, county physician, provided a nurse and took charge of the case. The patient was reported to be suffering seriously.

Inspector Shorten had the rooming

ARREST SUSPECTS IN MURDER CASE

Salt Lake, Jan. 14.—Three people—two men and a woman—are being held in the Salt Lake jail, charged with having been implicated in the murder of Thomas Parks, a Lark miner, at Bingham, Saturday morning.

The two men are G. B. Sutton, a Bingham and Garfield switchman, and J. C. Stitzer, who, Sutton says, is his "pal." The woman is Louise Ball, 30, sweetheart of the railroad.

Sutton is charged with the brutal bread knife murder. Stitzer is a suspect, and from admission said to have been made by the woman, Louise Ball, both she and Stitzer will be held as accessories to the crime.

The trio were brought from Bingham to Salt Lake last night by Deputy Sheriffs Raleigh and Jones. Both officers maintain they secured a confession from the woman to the effect that she brought the two men knives from her kitchen, following a cafe quarrel they had with Parks, and that they "laid for him" and attacked him when he came out of the cafe.

The murder, according to the Bingham deputies was witnessed by but one man, Bob Meyerhoffer, and he will be called as an important witness for the state. Meyerhoffer, who also was in the Opera cafe, came out just as the street fight was in progress. He told the officers yesterday that he saw "Tex" Sutton strike Parks several times with a knife.

The confession of the woman that she furnished the two men with a knife appears leads the police and county officers to suspect that Stitzer also may have taken an actual part in the murder of the miner.

The murder, one of the most brutal Bingham has known, occurred at 4 o'clock yesterday morning and followed a quarrel in the cabaret, Parks was cut and slashed in the abdomen with a broad knife having a twelve-inch blade.

Sutton and Stitzer were found in a room a half hour after the slaying and were placed under arrest. The Ball woman was arrested later in the day, as it was learned she had been with the party.

ITALY WOULD REDEEM PEOPLE

Americans With Broad Understanding of Freedom Will See Italian Viewpoint.

NO LUST FOR CONQUEST

Trentino, Istria and Dolmatia, Italian Provinces, Held Against Will by Austrians.

Rome, Sunday, Jan. 14, via Paris, Jan. 15, 8:50 a. m.—Italy's territorial aspirations in connection with the war were explained and defended today by Francesco Ruffini, minister of public instruction and a historian of prominence, in a statement to The Associated Press.

"In the note of the allies to President Wilson," he said, "they make a point which is understandable to neutrals and particularly to America. Italy, no less than her allies, awaits with calm confidence the realization of the aims set forth in that passage of the note which refers to the redemption of Italians subject to Austria. The German press seems to depict Italy as desirous of conquests, but in America public opinion is so far seeing, so well educated to freedom and to a deep spirit of national unity, cannot be found brutal lust of conquest with a justified claim to territories with populations like those of the Trentino, Istria and Dalmatia.

"These territories have had only one civilization in their history, that of Italy, and only one great humiliation—which must cease—that of foreign domination which attempted to destroy the principle of nationality. America knows well that Italy, notwithstanding these just claims, abstained from any provocation before the European conflagration, being occupied with her peaceful development. Austria was responsible for the outbreak of the conflict, having willed her war with Serbia after provoking Italy a hundred times with violent persecution of Italians of Trent, Trieste, Fiume and Zara, whom she denied even the right to educate themselves in their own language.

Fate Called Italy.

"Once the conflagration was ignited Italy felt that fate called her to complete her national unit and resume her just and holy work and her declaration of independence which have been studied with such enthusiasm by all illustrious American historians. Only those who are ignorant of the history of Austria's violent usurpation were surprised by Italy's action initiated by her victorious armies, or attributed her just claims to ambition for conquest. Italy faced the terrible sacrifices of blood and riches imposed by the war with that same religious spirit which animated all the deeds of her national resurrection of which America's attainment of independence was so full.

"Italy counts on the considerate and tranquil judgment of American public opinion which, while justly desiring the return of peace, cannot, if it examines the origin of the conflict and the problem raised thereby, wish that the European equilibrium, broken by violence in 1914, be replaced today by a premature and unfruitful peace containing the germs of graver conflicts in the future."
